new facility because it was the right thing to do for our people and our business. “It is a strategic capital investment. Our people deserve a first-class facility.”

Listing BAE’s neighbors in East Kern, including Edwards Air Force Base, the East Kern Airport District, Scaled Composites, and the Mojave Chamber of Commerce, Ho said “We view a company’s sitting in much the same way as you might view the location of your home: that is, we are pleased to be members of the neighborhood. We understand the responsibilities that come with being good community citizens. First and foremost we pledge to continue our role as good neighbors and corporate citizens in the High Desert area.”

BAE Flight Systems has 167 employees at Mojave, and Nafziger is responsible for over 30 more working in Germany, Australia, and Florida.
